

Hello, I'm Justine James Reyes. I know that I will be a great benefit to this company with the skills I can offer. One of my skills is being able to collaborate with new people and able to get along with them. Also I can offer motivation and encouragement to my coworkers if we are struggling on a project. Another skill I can offer is my ability to critically think and make a great contribution to projects with my ideas. Additionally, I have the ability to work around any walls my team and I may have hit while working.
